

DEFENSE SPECIALIZED SERVICES

Pacific Aerospace Consulting continues to develop a unique range of engineering and logistical services for single and multiple defense platforms, projects and programs and defense industry organizations, in the areas of:

- Data Link
- Mission Planning Systems
- Foreign Military Sales (FMS) Support
- Aerospace Engineering Support, Integration and Certification Assistance

In particular, Pacific Aerospace Consulting provides the following products and services:

1. System Research, Analysis and Planning:

- a. Research and analysis of transition issues for the new capability with development of solutions for integration into existing systems
- b. Research and analysis of interoperability requirements and compliance
- c. Requirements Analysis
- d. Analysis of alternatives for capability transition issues

2. Infrastructure Design, Integration and Through-Life Support:

- a. Development of comprehensive transition management plans
- b. Coordination of appropriate aviation and engineering authorities to support system implementation and integration
- c. Development of personnel infrastructure requirements for network design and operational level requirements
- d. Development of logistics (ILS) infrastructure including support pipelines for hardware and software
- e. Investigation and analysis of training requirements for commanders, logistics managers, operators and maintainers
- f. Identification and integration of appropriate disposal policies and procedures
- g. System testing and evaluation, verification and certification recommendations
- h. Configuration management for hardware, software and networks
- i. Quality assurance management and support
- j. Administration support
- k. Cost benefit analysis

3. Independent Liaison Services:

- a. Development and implementation of in-service support and case management including the provision of logistics, engineering and technical expertise
- b. Program/project management support
- c. Facilitation and management of Foreign Military Sales (FMS) cases for foreign customers to the United States Department of Defense